Get Full Earning Power from Farm Machinery What Means Most to You is What We Try Most to Give

There is only one way to buy an implement economically.

Buy it on the basis of its earning power.

Buy it for its ability to do good work for you right from the start and year after year.

It is our aim to sell full earning power every time we sell a farm implement.

That is why we buy from a firm that takes every care to maintain its reputation for making only good implements,

—why we show you the implements before you buy so that you can be sure it fits your requirements,

—why we set the implement up exactly right before we turn it over to you,

—why we are always ready to help you understand every adjustment before you start operating the implement,

—why we maintain a prompt repair service so that when parts become worn, you can renew them without loss of time,

All of those things go to insure full earning power. Yet their great importance is sometimes overlooked. You will appreciate the care we take in observing them.

Come in and see us whenever you need a farm implement.

Canada and the United States

In these days of almost universal unrest, words of advice and warning are so frequently uttered and written that there is grave danger of the public ear becoming dulled, and the old fable repeating itself, and the cry of "wolf, wolf" so often sounded being disregarded when actual danger is imminent.

Nevertheless, at the risk of but adding to the alarms given, the writer of this column ventures to declare without equivocation of any kind that danger is threatening Canada, the British Empire, the United States, and through these great English-speaking nations, is threatening the world.

A deliberate propaganda is being engineered throughout the English-speaking world, but more especially in the United States, to create and develop a feeling of antagonism, of suspicion, of hate, between the people of the United States and the people of the British Empire. And because Canada is British, and the next door neighbor of the United States, no stone is being left unturned to arouse an anti-American sentiment among people in this Dominion.

Traced to its source, this propaganda is the work of Germans and German sympathizers. Make no mistake about it. And the writer would say, as a writer in McLean's magazine said recently: "Canadians, don't fall for it!" Incomprehensibly defeated in the Great War; all her colonies lost to her; and with loss of territory in Europe; her shipping in the hands of her former enemies; her world trade destroyed; her money at a ruinous discount throughout the world; burdened with an enormous debt, and with discontent and rebellion seething at home, Germany is striving almost with desperation to retrieve in peace what she lost in war. Unless she can do so; unless she can gain a new footing in world trade and commerce, Germany's position is hopeless for generations to come.

How is she to even partially regain all that she has lost? She sees but one sure, certain and fairly swift method, and that is to drive a wedge of suspicion and hate between the British Empire and the United States. Accomplish this, and the way is open for Germany to again emerge as a power in the world.

In the United States, the game is being played for Germany by certain politicians of the ward type catering for the German-American and the Irish-American vote. The game is being played by the Hearst newspapers. It is being played by the Sinn Féiners, both in the United States and Ireland.

In turn, the anti-British outbreaks fomented by these classes in the United States are used in Canada and England, but especially in Canada, to arouse a feeling of hostility in this country towards Americans. Full use is made of the discount on English and Canadian money. Retaliatory action is urged against Hearst and other American interests. A policy of nagging and pin-pricking is being encouraged on both sides of the international boundary, not for the advantage of Canada or the advantage of the United States, but in order to benefit Germany, the enemy of both.

With a firm friendship cemented between Great Britain and the United States, it would, in the final analysis, matter little whether the League of Nations became a permanent institution or not, because united they can maintain the peace of the world; divided and suspicious of one another, no League of Nations could be effective.

Upon Canada devolves an enormous responsibility. A former member of the Lloyd George Government said to the writer that great as had been Canada's contribution to victory in the war and glorious as was the position this Dominion had won for itself among the nations, its recent achievements and glory were small indeed compared with the opportunity for world service now thrust upon it. Canada, he said, was in fact, the hostess for the future peace of the world. Situated, as this country is, a loyal and proud British Dominion, alongside the great English-speaking republic, its people had it in their power to bring about a unity in sentiment between the United States and the British Empire, which alone could make permanent world peace possible. On the other hand, Canadians had it equally in their power, by unwise and ill-considered action and the development of an anti-American sentiment to do irretrievable injury to a concord between the Empire and the Republic.

Canadians should be on their guard. They should not be led astray by the political scheming, and the pro-German propaganda, across the line. This twisting of the Lion's tail does not meet with the approval of the sound commonsense of the American people. It is the work of a noisy minority. Canadians can afford to treat it with contempt. Don't take it seriously; don't retaliate in kind. Just laugh at it, and keep on striving to create an eternal friendship between the two great branches of the English-speaking family.

A Fitting Response

Great Britain Claims Nothing More in Ireland Than The United States Did In The South

When Mr. Lloyd George said in the House of Commons that De Valera is putting forward in this country "the same claim in exactly the same language as Jefferson Davis did" and that Great Britain claims nothing more in Ireland than the United States did in the South, "and will stand for nothing less," he made a proper response to the Senate's recent meddlesome resolution in favor of the Sinn Féiners. It has never been difficult to put Congress on record in support of the schemes of insurrection, secession and independence on the part of other peoples, but for some reason or another such doctrines as applied to ourselves are always passionately resented. — New York World.

Faint and Dizzy Spells. Weakness and Shortness of Breath.

You can generally tell when the heart is affected by the faint and dizzy spells, the shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensations, weak, sinking, all-gone feeling, choking sensation, etc.

Many men and women become rundown and worn out when otherwise they could be strong and healthy if they would only pay some attention to the first sign of heart weakness. No remedy will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Mrs. C. A. S. Drake, Paris, Ont., writes:—"I have used on towards the second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and find they have done me good. I had those fainting, dizzy spells, once in a while, and also weakness and shortness of breath, and would become so choked up at times I could hardly sleep without sitting up in bed. When walking too fast I would have to stop and try to catch my breath. I feel a lot better since I have used your pills and know that they have helped me wonderfully as I have improved very much." Price 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

France to Purchase Ships From Britain

England is Willing to Negotiate the Sale of Ships

Mr. Bignon, French Undersecretary for the Mercantile Marine, announces that he expects imminent and specific results from his visit to London and his conversation with British ministers respecting ships and coal.

The attitude of the British authorities was sympathetic and conciliatory, and they expressed surprise at the charge that England is retaining more tonnage than she is justly entitled to at the expense of France.

Mr. Bignon points out that France cannot expect to receive a present of a fleet, but England is willing to negotiate the sale of ships. She had to consider her own position as a sea power, and according to Mr. Bignon France has reason to be grateful to her for her concessions.

Crop Prospects Good

According to Dr. H. Gridale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, crop prospects throughout the Dominion are apparently extremely good. There have been fairly good rainfalls, and there is every prospect of plenty of moisture, while as far as can be judged at this early date seedling prospects are fair. There is a good supply of wheat, oats, and barley seed, which are described as in good condition. The Deputy Minister states that there is sufficient seed to meet all demands.

THE COW PUNCHER

— BY —
ROBERT J. C. STEAD

Copyrighted, Canada, 1918, By The Mussion Book Co. Ltd., Toronto. Printed By Special Arrangement.

"I'm afraid I haven't played a very heroic part," he said, somewhat shamefacedly. "I should have kept my secret in my heart; buried it even from you; perhaps most of all from you. I should have faced the world with a smile, as one who rises above the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune. People do that kind of thing in books; perhaps some do in real life. I suppose you can't tell from the outside what may be carried within—even by your close friend. But you can advise me, Dave. I will value whatever you say."

She trembled until she thought he must see her, and she feared to trust her voice, but she could delay a reply no longer.

"You are right, Dave," she said at length. "You can never tell what other people are carrying, perhaps even as you say, your closest friends. The first thing is to get rid of the idea that your experience is unique; that your lot is harder than that of other people. It may be different, but it is not harder. When you get that point of view you will be able to pass sane judgments."

"And when you can pass sane judgment you may see that the evidence is not, even at the worst, very conclusive. Why should you take Conward's word in such a matter as this? 'I didn't take Conward's word.' That's why I didn't tell you once. It wasn't his word—it was the ill that cut. But she tried to save him. She threw herself upon me, and she would have taken the bullet rather than let it find him. That was what—what was—that?"

"I know, Dave." She had to hold herself in check lest the tenderness that welled within her, and would shape words of burning sympathy in her mind, should find utterance in speech. "I know, Dave," she said. "The next thing then is to make sure in your own mind whether you really loved Irene Hardy."

He sprang to his feet. "Loved Irene!" he exclaimed, and she was in a turmoil of fear and hope that he would reproach her. But he passed his own side of the room.

"Edith," he said, "there is no way of explaining this. You can't understand. I know you have given your self up to a life of service, and I know you very much and all that, but there are some things you won't be able to understand. You can't understand just how much I loved Irene."

"I think I can," she answered very quietly. "You have kept your love faithful and single for a dozen years, and I—I think I can understand. But that isn't why I ask. Because if you loved Irene a week ago, you love her tonight."

W. N. U. 1312

"Have you never known of love being turned to hate?"

"Yes. Other impulses may be, but not love. Love can no more turn to hate than sunlight can turn to darkness. Believe me, Dave, if you hate Irene now you never loved her. Listen."

"I love heareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things!"

"It says all things," Dave was silent for some time. When he spoke again she caught a different sound in his voice; a tone that though his soul in these few moments had gone through a life-time of experience.

"Edith," he said, "when you repeat those words I knew you had something that I have not. I know it, not by the words, but by the way you said them. You made me feel that you were not setting a higher standard for me than you would accept for yourself. You made me know that in your own life, if you loved, you would be ready to endure all things. Tell me, Edith, how may this thing be?"

She trembled with delight at the new tone in his voice, and she knew that in that hour Dave had crossed the boundary of his life and entered into a new and richer field of existence. She knew that for him life would never again be the empty, flippant, selfish, irresponsible thing which in the past he had called life. He was ready beginning to taste of that which of compensation provided for those who pass through the valley of sorrow.

"In your case," she said, "the course is simple. It is just a case of forgiving."

He gazed for a time into the street, while thoughts of bitterness and revenge fought for domination of his mind. "Edith," he said at length, "must I forgive?"

"I do not say you must," she answered. "I merely say if you are wise you will. Forgiveness is the heart of our moral life, by which we keep the wounds of the soul from festering and poisoning the spirit. Nothing seems to me, is so much misunderstood as forgiveness. The popular idea is that the whole benefit of forgiveness is to the person who is forgiven. Really, there is a very much greater benefit to the person who forgives. The one who is forgiven may merely escape punishment, but the one who forgives experiences a positive spiritual expansion. Believe me, Dave, it is the only philosophy which rings true under the most critical tests, which is absolutely dependable in every emergency."

"Is that Christianity?" he ventured. "It is one side of Christianity. The other side is service. If you are willing to forgive and ready to serve I don't think you need worry much over the details of your creed. Creeds, after all, are not expressed in words, but in lives. When you know how a man lives you know what he believes—all lives."

"Suppose I forgive—what then?"

"Service. You are needed right now. Dave—forgive my frankness—your country needs you right now. You have the qualities which make you extremely valuable. You must dismiss this grievance from your mind, at least dismiss your resentment over it, and then place yourself at the disposal of your country. The way is so clear that it cannot be misunderstood."

"That is what I had been thinking of," he said. "At least that part about serving my country, although I don't think my motives were as high as you would make them. But the war can't last. I'll be all over before I can take a hand in anything but a war."

"I'm not sure," she answered gravely. "Of course, I know nothing about Germany. But I do know something about the people of Germany. I know how selfish and individualistic and sordid and money-grabbing we have been; how slothful and incompetent and self-satisfied we have been, and I fear it will take a long war and sacrifices and tragedies altogether beyond our present imagination to make us unselfish and public-spirited and clean and generous; it will take the strain and emergency of war to make us vigorous and efficient; it will take the sting of many defeats to impose that humility which will be the beginning of our regeneration. I am not worthy."

"In reply to the statement in the House of Commons, the Secretary of State said there were 106 Japanese residents at the present time who had been naturalized, while the total number of Japanese residents in Canada in 1911 was 9,021. There were at present 25 naturalized Chinese in Canada, whereas the number of Chinese in Canada in 1911 was 27,774."

"If that is so," Dave replied, "if this war is but the working out of immutable law which proposes to put all the elements of civilization to the supreme test and retain only those which are justifiable by that test, why should I—or any one else—fight? And he added as an afterthought, 'what about the principle of forgiveness?'"

"We must fight," she answered, "because it is the law that we must fight. It is only by fighting that we can justify the principles for which we fight. If we hold our principles as sacred and worth fighting for, we are in the discard. And that, too, covers the question of forgiveness. Forgiveness in fact, does not enter into the consideration at all. We must fight, not because we hate Germany, but because we love certain principles which Germany is endeavoring to overthrow. The impulse must be love, not hate."

She had turned and faced him while she spoke, and he felt himself strangely carried away by the earnestness and fervor of her argument. What a wonderful woman she was! How she had stripped the issue of the detail and circumstance which was confusing even statements, and laid it before him in positive terms which he could find no argument to dispute! And how in his hour of stress, and when he stood on the verge of utter recklessness and indifference, she had infused into him a strange and new ambition—an ambition which deepened and enriched every phase of life, and yet which held life itself less worthy than its own attainment! And as he looked at her he again thought of Irene, and suddenly he felt himself constricted in a great tenderness, and he knew that even yet—

"What am I to do?" he said. "I am willing to accept your philosophy. I admit that mine is broken down, and am willing to try yours. What am I to do?"

Caproni Will Build Proposed Grey-Hounds of the Air in America

General Caproni, whose airplanes played a prominent part in the world war, announced at a dinner given in his honor at the Aero Club of America that he plans for a giant passenger car of 12,000 horse-power, capable of transporting from 400 to 500 persons over the ocean. He described at the dinner his latest complete plane, which he said was built to carry five passengers and give them all the comforts afforded by ocean liners. It is a flying boat. The feasibility of establishing trans-atlantic aerial lines was the purpose of his visit to America, he said, and he plans to select a site for a factory in which to build the proposed grey hounds of the air, for the over-ocean passenger traffic.

"EVERYTHING GOOD IN SPORTING GOODS"

Strikers' Release Entirely Changed Policy of Ireland

London.—The release of the Irish prisoners was by direct order of General Sir Neville McCready, and marks the beginning of an entire change in the Irish policy, according to a prominently displayed statement in the Daily Mail.

When it became clear some time ago, says the paper, that the policy of repression was leading to dissatisfactions, the premier decided to change the policy, and, if necessary get rid of men associated with the old regime. He suddenly and without warning told J. I. McPherson, chief secretary for Ireland, that he was to be moved to the pensions ministry, and appointed General McCready in command of the troops without consulting the Irish office. General McCready, adds the Mail, was instructed to inaugurate a new policy of conciliation and was given a free hand. In other words, he was to supersede the existing heads of the government in Ireland.

When General McCready arrived in Dublin, he ordered the release of the prisoners after an exchange of wireless messages with Premier Lloyd George, who was on his way to San Remo, according to the Daily Mail.

Inasmuch as General McCready reversed the policy or which Viscount French was responsible, the victory, the paper believes, shows a clear definition as to whether he or General McCready is the chief power in Ireland, and may come to London to inquire.

"The answer," continues the Mail, "may lead to his resignation—a contingency for which the Premier possibly planned. Names of his possible successors are being discussed in the lobbies of parliament, the favorite being the Earl of Granard, although he is a Catholic and a special act of parliament would be necessary to enable him to act as viceroys."

The Mail assumes from Mr. Bonar Law's speeches that he was not informed of the decision for the release of the prisoners and says that the peculiarity of his position is being discussed in political circles.

Bavaria Predicts

War With France

And For That Reason Germany Should Remain Solid

Geneva.—The Munich Post, a socialist organ, has created a sensation in Bavaria by publishing the report of a secret meeting of the Bavarian Junker Party, which was attended by most of the military officers. The meeting was presided over by Herr Von Schoch, president of the Patriotic League. The principle questions discussed related to the division of Germany into two parts and the proposed overtures to be made to France to join in an attack upon Prussia.

Captain Berthold, says the Munich Post, objected to the proposals, saying that the Bavarian generals would suffer the fate of Admiral Kolchak and General Denikine, the Russian anti-Bolshevik leaders. He added that another war with France was inevitable in the near future and for that reason Germany should remain solid. Several officers and politicians supported the view.

Land for Irish Soldiers

Who Volunteered For Service At The Front in 1918

Dublin.—Government officials are negotiating for 1,000 acres of land which will be apportioned among Irishmen who volunteered for service at the front in 1918. Viscount Field-Marshal French, lord-lieutenant of Ireland, promised in 1918 that land would be given to those who joined the colors, and in 1919 parliament passed a bill carrying the lord-lieutenant's promise into effect. To the present, however, only 71 men who took advantage of the offer, have been provided with homes.

The only land that can be taken under the law is that which is not subject to tenancies and it may be taken from landlords under compulsion. Recent governments have followed the policy of relieving congestion by distributing of land among small tenants, and these men are beginning to display apprehension lest their claims be postponed, preference being given those soldiers. Four thousand applications for holdings have been filed, and nearly six thousand soldiers have asked for cottages.

Strikers Are Released For Treatment

Prisoners Say That Their Worst Hardship Was Uncomfortable Beds

Dublin.—It was officially announced that it is not intended to release all of the hunger strikers in Mount Joy prison unconditionally, but that an order has been issued that those requiring medical treatment outside the prison will be released on parole for periods to be specified in the case of each individual by the prison doctor.

After only four of the prisoners had been removed from Mount Joy prison, the government intervened with the conditions pertaining to the reincarceration of the hunger strikers after hospital treatment.

The prisoners refused the new terms. When a danger arose that there would be a refusal of further departure from the prison by the hunger strikers, the lord mayor again visited the vice-regal lodge with a view to having the order rescinded.

The lord mayor stated on his return that the prisoners would be released unconditionally.

The prisoners had refused to accept the stipulation on the ground that it was a re-application of the "cat and mouse" policy.

The release of the prisoners announced at five o'clock in the afternoon is regarded as a complete triumph for the hunger strikers and its ally, the general strike. It became known early that Viscount French had summoned the lord mayor, and that it was then only a question of time.

It is not definitely known what the terms are, and for some days there may be contradictory statements regarding them, the trade unionists, however, have no doubt which side had won, and immediately called off the general strike, to the great relief of the citizens.

The prison board also received an order that henceforth under the Defence of the Realm Act, prisoners should receive no medical treatment from the date of their arrest until their trial for a specific offence.

The visit to Dublin of James Henry Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen and Labor member of parliament for Derby, is regarded as having had some share in the decision for the release of some of the men.

It is said that an attempt was to have been made to bring about a strike in England in support of the Irish cause. Mr. Thomas made a speech from a window of the labor executive offices endorsing the action of the hunger strikers.

The absence of military from the streets was conspicuous. There were no tanks or armored cars posted at the jail, and the barbed wire barricades had been removed. The Irish volunteers resumed charge of maintaining order outside the prison and were implicitly obeyed.

The released prisoners in the Mater Misericordia hospital say that the prison staff and ordinary officers at Mount Joy were kind in their treatment of them; their worst hardship was uncomfortable beds. They were indignant at two proposals made to them by the authorities, which implied that certain of the men should desert their colleagues. Their attitude was "all or none."

The council replied that the matter will be considered.

Col. Morden Says Ottawa May Be Capital of Empire

Suggests United States Try Canadian Plan

Of Having An Investigation Before A Strike Is Permitted

Boston.—In a speech delivered at a luncheon here, Major-General Wood dealt with the strike situation. Referring to the Canadian plan of "having an investigation before a strike is permitted," he said: "In this way, Canada has built up a sound public opinion. We have not built up any public opinion here. We do not get the facts concerning strikes. The coal strike in Kansas, for instance, was a strike for longer working hours. The men were allowed to work only eighteen hours a week because there were no cars to move the coal and no place to store the coal, and they could not live on eighteen hours' work a week. That happens to have been the inside fact in that strike, yet nobody knew anything about it. The steel strike was something quite different; and so with the coal strike in West Virginia. We want to build up a sound public opinion here. Public opinion rules in this country."

May Break Relations

Russian Soviet and Poland Unable To Reach Agreement

Warsaw.—In rejecting further discussions regarding Borisov, on the Bernesia river northeast of Minsk, as the place for the proposed peace negotiations of Poland and Russia, the Russian Soviet government has sent a wireless message saying it considered the last note of the Poles in the nature of an ultimatum. "We are now standing face to face with the sad eventuality of breaking with Poland owing to the failure to agree upon the locality," the message says.

It reiterates that the Bolsheviks are ready to accept any neutral town and suggests the possibility of holding the peace conference in Paris or London. The message concludes by saying that Russia's only alternative has been to address England, America and France.

It is expected here that the entente note to Poland on the subject will be made public in a few days.

Nominate Convicted Leaders

Labor Party Decided In Favor Of Men Who Figured In Sedition Charges

Winnipeg.—Annuling the nominations made a fortnight ago, the Winnipeg Branch of the Dominion Labor Party, at a meeting in the Labor Temple, decided in favor of the ten men who had figured in the sedition charges being nominated for the Winnipeg seats at the provincial elections in July.

These men are R. B. Russell, Rev. Wm. Ivens, Ald. John Queen, W. A. Prichard, R. J. Johns, George Armstrong and R. E. Bray, who were convicted; John Farnell, who was imprisoned for seditious utterances; F. J. Dixon, M.L.A., who was charged with seditious libel and was acquitted, and J. S. Woodworth, who is facing a similar charge. They will not all be the nominees of the Labor Party, however, as it was decided to confer with other working class organizations, such as the Socialist party, the Social-Democratic party, and the Ex-soldiers' and Ex-sailors' party, with a view to these organizations naming their own particular candidates. The Labor party will confine its nominees to those of the men who are members of the party, Ivens, Woodworth and Dixon.

Ninety Blind in Saskatchewan. Regina, Sask.—A survey of Saskatchewan by the provincial government at the request of the National Institution for the Blind reveals there are ninety blind persons in Saskatchewan.

W. N. U. 1312

Ottawa.—Addressing members of the Empire Parliamentary Association at a dinner in the Rideau Club, Col. Grant Morden, a member of the British House of Commons, declared that the idea that Canada, having become a nation within the British Empire, was strong enough to stand alone was not only a fallacious, but a dangerous view. Other speakers during the evening were Senator Foster and Hon. MacKenzie King.

Col. Morden scouted the idea that Britain had been ruined by the war. It was true he said, that Britain had a debt of eight billion pounds, but more than ninety per cent of this was an internal debt and the balance was more than doubly covered by the loans made the allies. The country was exceedingly poor after the Napoleonic wars, as compared with today.

Colonel Morden paid a tribute to Lloyd George, who he credited himself a leader enabling Britain to win the war, and who was now showing himself a great statesman and master of reconstruction.

Co-operation and combination was being applied in industry in Britain with success. This might apply as well to the politics of the empire at large. If the capital and experience of the motherland could be combined with the resources of the overseas dominions, then there was a bright future in sight for all parts of the empire. The empire would be able to maintain her position as first in the world. Canada had the resources and if they were wisely developed, Col. Morden would not be surprised, he said, to see this Dominion and Ottawa, in many senses at least, the capital of the empire. A good government, which would protect the interests of all classes, was a necessity to induce people to come to Canada, and people were needed as well as capital to develop resources.

The "silken thread of sentiment" binding the Empire should be reinforced by the "golden chains of commerce."

Quebec Wants More Revenue

Quebec.—In an effort to find more revenue to foot the city's growing expenditures, the Quebec city council is considering various plans of taxation. It is proposed to levy a 15 per cent tax on all business enterprises and also to pad the property valuation so as to raise by a couple of millions the revenues of the administration.

Nova Scotian Suffering From Rheumatism Tells of the Benefit She Got Through Using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hillsborough, N.S., April 19th. (Special).—"For nearly two years I suffered the tortures of rheumatism and could get nothing to relieve me. At last I thought of Dodd's Kidney Pills and commenced to take them."

"Before I had used two boxes I felt better. I have been using them for nearly six months and feel ever so much better. I will continue to use them until my rheumatism is gone."

Mrs. James McNeill, who lives here, makes the above statement. She feels that she owes it to other sufferers from rheumatism to tell them how she found relief from her suffering. She is always ready to say a good word for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Other sufferers from rheumatism tell of pains relieved and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act directly on the kidneys. They strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to strain the uric acid out of the blood. Uric acid crystallizing in the muscles causes the pains known as rheumatism. Ask your neighbor about Dodd's Kidney Pills do not heal and strengthen the kidneys.

Advocates Federal Aid For Development of Alberta Coal Resources

In debating the development of natural resources in the house of commons, Major D. L. Redmond, Calgary, said he had no use for the general idea put forth by Socialists about state control, but he believed the government could do some very useful and valuable work in taking hold of some scheme to see that the natural resources were developed along right and proper lines.

Major Redmond urged a definite government policy of co-operation in the development of natural resources. Scientific research along this line should be encouraged in every possible way and no policy of "penny wise and pound foolish" should be allowed to interfere with the sound development of the country's resources. Until some definite decision was made about handing over the country's natural resources to the provinces, responsibility for the development of these rested on the Dominion government, said Major Redmond, and even if the responsibility was delegated to the provinces later on, there remained to the Dominion government a useful field for controlling the standardization and providing for the export of commodities. Such matters as exchange came within that scope. Major Redmond spoke at length on the natural resources of Alberta. The Dominion government, he said, ought to co-operate by assisting scientific research into the possible utilization of low grade iron and coal. If these could be made marketable, all would benefit. There was plenty of good coal in Alberta, he said, if railway rates could be modified to enable Alberta to compete for eastern trade and in this connection, Major Redmond, supported an application which was pending before the railway commission for a reduction in the rates on coal from Alberta during the summer months to permit the mines being kept going uniformly 12 months in the year and to permit of the moving of coal traffic at a season when freight cars were available.

W. A. Buchanan, Lethbridge, spoke on the coal deposits of the west. He stated that 87 per cent. of the coal in Canada was to be found in Alberta and though it might be difficult to get this coal into the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, it would be worth the while of these provinces to encourage its production for use in the west thus saving Pennsylvania coal. He stated that the source of coal supply for Ontario and Quebec in Pennsylvania was gradually becoming depleted.

Mr. Buchanan ascribed much of the unrest among Alberta miners to lack of steady employment which in turn came as a result for there being no permanent market for western coal. Transport difficulties might also be overcome by educating people to store coal in the summer for the next winter's supply. He advocated the grading of western coals, which would stabilize the sales.

Growing Interest In Western Canada Farms

Settlers From U. S. Are Welcomed
In True Community
Spirit

Increased interest in western Canada farm lands in many parts of the United States, and bright prospects for a big influx of American settlers to the prairie provinces of Canada this season, are reported by the vanguard of new farmers from across the line.

To some extent the interest is due to the abnormally high price of lands prevailing in the States and in a larger to the hospitable treatment of the newly arrived settlers by people of the communities in which they have located. Land prices in Western Canada, while cheaper in comparison with those in the United States, give the purchasers as good, and in many cases, much better land, as well as a great saving of capital.

Near Dwight, Illinois, for instance, land that sold for $40 an acre twenty years ago is today selling for $600 an acre. An English syndicate owns a large estate of 50,000 acres near Dwight, and has been renting it at $10 an acre. Lately the rental has been increased to $25, with the result that many tenants are vastly dissatisfied and are bent on making a change. Naturally they have turned their attention to Canada, as a country where they can make permanent homes for themselves, and where their children will not have to face the problem of high rents of land. Purchasing land at $600 an acre is, of course, out of the question for practically all of them.

Some of these Illinois farmers purchased in Manitoba and Saskatchewan last year. They were loth to leave their old homes and seek their fortunes in a new land, as they felt they would be amongst strangers, who in no way would be interested in their welfare. They were surprised and delighted, however, on arrival to be met at the stations by the people of the communities in which they had decided to locate, who welcomed them to their new homes and served them with sandwiches and coffee. Their homes had been heated up by these cordial neighbors, hay had been hauled into the barns for their stock and in one case a community social was held in the church to make them feel at home and to give them an opportunity of at once becoming acquainted with their neighbors. These settlers are now sending enthusiastic letters to their friends back in Illinois and Iowa, telling them of conditions as they have found them and urging them to come to Canada and establish homes here.

Mounted Police Of Canada

Force Must Watch Frontier And Indians As Well As Enforce Laws

The report of the Commissioner of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, A. Bowen Perry, will be the last of its kind, as the designation of the body of men has been changed to the Royal Dominion Mounted Police. The report is for the year ending September 3, 1919. The old force has now become the sole federal police force of the Dominion, its authorized strength having been increased from 1,200 men to 2,500.

Its duties have been defined as follows: (a) The enforcement of federal laws; (b) The patrolling and protection of the international boundary line; (c) The enforcement of all orders-in-council passed under the "War Measures" Act, for protection of public safety; (d) generally to aid and assist the civil powers in the preservation of law and order wherever the government of Canada may direct.

In the course of his report Commissioner Perry touches on these duties as follows: To patrol the international boundary for the purpose of assisting the customs and immigration officials; to maintain law and order amongst the Indians on their reserves, and especially to prevent the use of intoxicants; to supervise the mining and industrial areas; to watch the settlements of enemy nationalities and foreigners whose sentiments might be disloyal and attitude antagonistic; to enforce law and order in the northwest territories and Yukon territory, and in the national parks where the force is the sole authority.

The new force also took over from the Dominion Police the duties of registration and controlling of alien enemies, the enforcement of the Military Service Act, the maintenance of the secret service and the protection of the navy yards at Esquimalt. Naturally some of these duties since the cessation of the war have ceased to be effective. The report points out that "the general situation in western Canada during the past year has caused anxiety. The war left the world normally, physically and materially exhausted, and unrest everywhere. Canada has not escaped. Sections of our population have been affected and as a result, some of the strikes have had a sinister purpose although probably not realized by many who took part. The most serious was the Winnipeg strike which occurred last May and which led to sympathetic strikes in Brandon, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver."

Remarkable that during the war enemy aliens in the Dominion gave no cause for anxiety, comparatively few of them being interested, the commissioner reports as follows: "Before the war, many had been employed in railway construction which ceased when the war broke out, and these people sought employment in the large industrial centres and filled the places

The Future of Durum Wheat in Western Canada

The word Durum is not applied merely to a variety of wheat, but to a group of varieties which differ from each other almost as much as the various sorts of ordinary wheat. The Durum varieties have, however, several characteristics in common. They are usually bearded and have short, compact heads; the straw is rather weak; the kernels are extremely large, and, as a rule, exceptionally hard. Most or all of the Durum varieties are more resistant to drought than ordinary wheats. This does not mean, however, that they will produce a good crop under very adverse conditions. Some of them show a good deal of resistance to rust, though they vary considerably in this respect. In the bread-making qualities of the flour made from Durum varieties, there are very large variations. Some of these varieties, such as Kubanka, are excellent for bread-making, while others, the majority perhaps, are decidedly inferior. The flour is usually of a yellow color, sometimes bright and pleasing as in the case of Kubanka, and in others dull and unattractive. It is obvious, therefore, that if one decides to grow Durum wheat, the choice of the particular variety to be sown is not a matter of indifference.

The objections to the best varieties of Durum wheat arises not only from the yellow color of the flour (a shade which is not fashionable at present), but to the extreme hardness of the kernels. Durum wheat in pure condition cannot be ground into flour by exactly the same system as ordinary wheat, and if the miller has to deal with a mixture of Durum wheat and common wheat, the problem presented is very troublesome. Naturally, the millers are averse to changing in their methods and will not do so unless a shortage of ordinary wheat and the presence on the market of considerable quantities of Durum.

The yellow color of the flour is an objection the seriousness of which can easily be exaggerated. Provided, as in the case of Kubanka, the color is bright, it is hard to imagine that the public would refuse to purchase the flour. The usual demand, however, is for white flour, and for yellow butter, even if it has to be artificially colored. Of course the public is not very logical in setting these standards, but those who grow wheat for sale must bear in mind the wishes of the consumers.

In the northwestern United States there was a hard struggle before Durum wheat became established as a recognized and profitable article of commerce. Probably a similar struggle will occur in Canada, and those who are pioneers in the growing of Durum wheat may very likely find it unprofitable, though it seems almost certain that ultimately Durum varieties will be more remunerative to farmers in the southern portions of Alberta and Saskatchewan than the varieties which are now usually grown there.

It is difficult to advise farmers what should be done at present. So long as there is a good demand for Durum wheat for seed purposes all will go well, but it will be a different matter when attempts are made to sell the wheat in the ordinary way for milling. A commission firm in Winnipeg has been quoted as having given the following advice: "Don't grow any more Durum wheat until more is grown." This sums up the matter very well. A farmer, before sowing much of this kind of wheat, should assure himself that there will be a profitable market for it. Such a market will not likely be established in Canada until quite large quantities of Durum wheat are available.

of our fighting men. They, as well as all foreigners, received the most considerate treatment as long as they obeyed the laws of the country and pursued their ordinary vocations. The returned soldiers found them filling their jobs and enjoying prosperity. In Winnipeg, Calgary, Medicine Hat, and other points, the resentment of the soldiers found expression in small disturbances provoked by the indiscreet acts and words of these people, who, as a body, have shown little appreciation of the just and fair treatment meted out to them by the people of this country. They have shown themselves ready to follow and support the extremists who play upon their ignorance and appeal to their national prejudices and sympathy for the central powers. Bolshevism finds a fertile field among them and is assiduously cultivated by the ardent agitator. The assimilation of our large alien population is of the greatest importance and it demands wise and sympathetic action and constant attention."

Population of B.C.

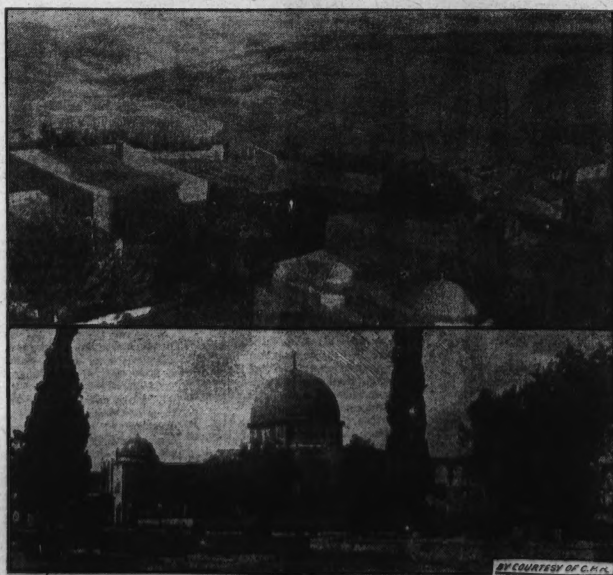

Interesting Figures Have Been Made Public by the Government

Interesting figures dealing with the centers of population in British Columbia have been made public by the government. They show that the municipal area of the 35 cities and 28 districts in the province comprises 945,208.46 acres or 1476.89 square miles, and contains a population of 709,980. This area is less than half of one per cent. of the total surface of the province and contains approximately 86 per cent. of the whole population. The remaining 99 1/2 per cent. of area comprises the unorganized territory administered by the provincial government and the remaining 14 per cent. of the population include the Indians, who are exempt from taxation.

Col. Barker Honored

Lieut.-Col. Wm. G. Barker, V.C., D.S.O., has been awarded a second silver medal by the King of Italy for his wonderful fight in October, 1918, in which he tackled sixty Hungarians single-handed, and shot down six of them before he was brought down by enemy fire. The award reads:

"Protector of the air." Col. Barker now holds more decorations than any other living British airman.

Got Him to Advertise

Persistency Had Its Reward After Many Days

An advertising salesman connected with the Syracuse Post Standard told me recently of his difficulties in persuading owners of little shops in his community to advertise, and he furnished me with a concrete illustration of how persistent he has to be to secure contracts from some of them.

He told me that he had called on one man twice a week for several years. Of course, he got very well acquainted with this man. He had been a merchant in a small way for over half a century merely making a living and that's all, while he might have made a fortune had he commenced his career by employing advertising in his home-town newspapers.

This advertising salesman called on this merchant on his eighty-fourth birthday and congratulated him, remarking on his splendid physical condition and telling him that instead of looking eighty-four he didn't look a day over sixty-five.

"This pleased the old gentleman so much that he said to the advertising salesman, 'Well, you have been trying to get me to advertise for a great many years, and I am going to celebrate my birthday by giving you an advertisement.' Whereupon he told him to insert a two-inch ad.

Now, the moral of this little story is: Keep at a business man and persuade him to advertise even if he lives to be eighty-four before he starts.

It is never too late to get started on the right track.—W. C. Freeman, in Fourth Estate.

His Party

The Countess of Warwick, who has been adopted as Labor candidate for East Walthamstow, has long been noted for her practical interest in welfare work.

One of her best stories concerns an occasion when she canvassed the humble quarters of a northern town on behalf of a well-known Labor leader, and encountered at the first house she visited a matron of the most determined character. "May I see Mr. —?" she asked. "No, you can't" answered the matron decisively. "But I want to know what party he belongs to," said Lady Warwick. The woman drew up her tall figure. "Well, take a good look at me," she said. "I'm the party he belongs to!"

Lethbridge's Export Trade

Exports to the value of $1,095,621.85 was exported in 1918. Cattle formed the biggest portion of these exports, 17,159 head having been shipped to southern ports. These were valued at $854,512.80. Horses for exhibition and ranching purposes, four, potatoes, personal effects, and wool, comprised the remainder of the exports. The total value of the wool exported from Lethbridge in 1919 was $315,544.95.

Steer Warships by Wireless

During Experiments Destroyer Was Manoeuvred With Not A Single Man Aboard

The British Admiralty reports considerable progress in recent tests of applying wireless control to vessels and torpedoes. Warships with crews of only a few men are regarded as an early possibility as a result of experiments. The Daily Mail says: "By using hertzian waves the wireless warships of our fleet have succeeded in controlling torpedo craft from a distance of some miles. During the experiments a destroyer was manoeuvred by wireless with not a single man aboard. By touching the wheel, a vessel is easily steered by the invisible force. Ship's searchlights were also turned by wireless."

SAFE AND EFFICIENT HOME TREATMENT

Many Weak and Ailing People Who Have Been Helped Strongly Recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There is only one way to build up a run down system if the blood is pale and thin. Many diseases are caused by this blood. Other diseases such as influenza and rheumatism cause an anæmic condition, and the wasting effect of these disorders cannot be combated successfully until the blood is restored to its normal condition.

Pallor, nervousness, indigestion, sleeplessness, headaches, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, these are a few of the symptoms of an anæmic condition, and the wasting effect of these disorders cannot be combated successfully until the blood is restored to its normal condition.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do one thing and do it well. They build up the blood increasing the number of red corpuscles. As this is done the blood becomes a richer red and is able to carry more oxygen, the great supporter of human life. As the blood improves in quality the tissues of the body are better nourished and the functions of the body are better performed. The plan of the pills is such as to stimulate and the first sign of improvement is usually a better appetite and weight gain.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been used for years as a bloodmaking tonic and system builder with such good results that in every community there are many people who are recommending this remedy to their friends and to others who are afflicted.

Here is the statement of one person among thousands who have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to their own great advantage. Mrs. A. Vniot, Hemford, N.S. says:—"For about two years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which seemed to carry with it a complication of other troubles. Every meal I took brought with it misery, as it was followed by pain, and sometimes nausea and vomiting. At other times gas would form in the stomach to such an extent that my heart would palpitate and my breathing was difficult. These conditions brought on extreme nervousness and irritability, and I found my general health so much affected, that the least exertion would tire me and I slept but poorly. I had been doctoring for several months with no result beyond slight temporary relief, when I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to follow his advice and got half a dozen boxes. Good results soon began to show from this treatment, and the further continued use of the pills have made me a well woman. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to similar sufferers."

The purpose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to build up the blood. They do this one thing and they do it well. They are an invaluable remedy in diseases arising from bad of deficient blood, as rheumatism, neuralgia; after effects of the grip and fever. The pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drug and cannot injure the most delicate system.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Czechs to Cross Canada

The Canadian Government was asked some days ago by the war office if 50,000 Czech-Slovak troops returning from Siberia to their own newly formed republic, could be transported across Canada. These troops, after a difficult journey, joined the anti-Bolshevik forces in Siberia and fought there for a considerable period. They are now to return home, and as they cannot cross Russia in doing so, it is proposed that they should be transported across the Pacific to Canada; should travel through Canada to the Atlantic, and so journey to their own country in Europe.

Squirrels As Big As Cats

There is no country that can rival North America for the great number of squirrels, both species and subspecies, represented in her fauna. In so far as brilliancy of color and size are concerned, however, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington, the handsomest and largest of squirrels in the world are found in the Orient and the East Indies, along the coast of Malabar. It found a squirrel as big as an ordinary cat; this animal is bright red on the upper part of its body, offset by the most intense black, while the all the lower parts are of a clear yellow.

A meeting of the Womens' Guild will be held at the home of Mrs. F. Pullan, on Thursday afternoon, May 6th, at 3 p. m. A good attendance is requested.

Safety First

On Friday evening last "Safety First" was again staged in the I. O. O. F. Hall. When the curtain was raised at 8.45 p. m. a crowded house greeted the members of the above play. We may state that our local talent are sure worthy of comment and if it were possible for similar plays to be staged from time to time our trips to Calgary would be far less numerous. The only changes in the play were that F. Pullan took the place of C. Thompson as the College Boy and S. Willis undertook the Terrible Turks ordeal in place of V. Thompson, these two boys had to step down on account of the serious illness of their father Mr. W. Thompson. The whole 3 acts were a decided success, better even if possible than the first time, as those taking part were far more confident. The people of Carstairs and Didsbury sure have a treat in store when our ten local ladies and gents proceed up the line.
